K. Adam Kunst focuses his practice working with individuals and families. He has a deep commitment to assisting people when they are in need, and enjoys the opportunity to aid them in planning for their futures and the futures of their families.

Adam began his career working with consumer debtors to assist them in seeking bankruptcy relief. Since joining the team at Casner & Edwards, Adam has expanded his practice to include family law and estate planning.

Adam has a background in public service, having served for two years in the National Civilian Community Corps, an AmeriCorps program. He regularly participates in charity runs and cycling events, which allow him to combine two of his passions: helping people and staying physically active. He is an avid cyclist, and has participated in the Harbor to the Bay bike ride from Boston to Provincetown to raise money for AIDS research. He is a regular dancer at swing dances in and around Boston.

Adam is an instructor at Bay State College, teaching an undergraduate course in business law to management school students interested in pursuing a career in the law.
